

“MELVA is a truly magical journey into the depths of young people’s anxieties and worries. It has really helped to focus on how our pupils view their own issues and more importantly - how they can best deal with them.

Led by a wonderful cast and supported by a solid and committed crew, the production packs a punch for any pupil who may be experiencing difficulties when dealing with their emotions- I urge any school to consider booking the whole package that Mortal Fools has to offer.

Materials for lesson planning together with ideas for surveys and case studies demonstrate the depth of positive impact this package possesses. Both the performance and the workshops have helped us by providing a platform for future focus on this very important field of young people’s mental health- at a time when it is needed the most.”
